

Biography: Mr. David Chaundy, Atlantic Provinces Economic Council

David Chaundy is a Senior Economist with the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council (APEC). He is a leading contributor to APEC's publications and regularly provides presentations to business groups, policymakers and academics. Since joining APEC in 1999, Mr. Chaundy has directed research projects on a wide variety of topics relating to economic development in Atlantic Canada including international trade and global value chains, international investment, immigration and labour market issues. Mr. Chaundy is the Past President of the Atlantic Association of Applied Economists. He holds graduate degrees in economics from the University of Cambridge and the University of York in England and lives in Halifax with his wife and two children.