

“What was that Sound?”

Biography: Mr. Bjørnar Lingjerde, Biota Guard

Bjørnar works as a project manager in the Norwegian company, Biota Guard where his tasks range from project management to programming and mechanical engineering. Bjørnar holds a master’s degree in cybernetics, which he makes good use of in the multidisciplinary technology company.

Bjørnar has gained extensive knowledge on using biosensors for industrial applications and was the project manager of the newly finished research project which Biota Guard conducted in cooperation with OERA on the effects of seismic on snow crab.